

Dear Hiring Manager:

I am a person-centric operations leader with 10+ years of logistics experience ready to take your warehouse team to the next level. I plant seeds that grow with client and staff relationship management.

I recently noticed a posting for a warehouse supervisor position with Federal Signal and believe I am a potential right fit. I have previous experience with a food distribution environment (Jewel-Osco) and am available now to help your team succeed on all levels.

I was the leader of a warehouse by title for many years. But I never shied away from the front lines. I can educate, motivate, and coach staff to get large projects done, usually with minimal supervision, in short amounts of time.

I have many former customers who still ask if they can deal with me. My bosses, staff, and customers still contact me with work-related questions and issues at home, and I am always happy to help however I can.

I have a firm handle on everything about distribution warehouse and logistics shipping and receiving operations management, from basic cherry picker and forklift safety to overseeing inventory management and tackling complex logistical problems.

I am a highly effective communicator, up and down, and procedures, part numbers, and software idiosyncrasies tend to stick in my brain. I can be your “everything” expert.

I am looking for work immediately after taking time off to pursue personal projects.

Please feel free to reach out to me via phone or email anytime.

I appreciate your time and consideration. Have a wonderful day.

Kind regards,

Matt D. Cratty
